The Anchor and Hope Anglers score heavily with their smoking concert held in their spacious club room, as the Duke of Kent, Old Kent-rd., on Monday last, and over which Mr. Harry Patman ably presided. There was an excellent programme, and many ladies honoured the society with presence. Mr. W. J. Wade took the musical arrangements in hand, and made an urgent appeal on behalf of the Benevolent Society, resulting in £5 12s. being collected. Mr. J. Ho-

GENERAL CHATTER.

Among a number of Russian newspapers which are forbidden by the Government to publish advertisements, I see the honoured name of "The People". Thank goodness, the Muscovite potentate has no power to interfere with our business; no doubt, he would be much like to suppress the most popular journal in England for its plain speaking about the unredressed grievances of his unhappy subjects. What a disagreeable country Russia must be to live in, when journalists dare

TALK OF THE PEOPLE.

Will the Austrian Emperor be able to extricate his Empire from the terrible mess into which the race-hatred of the Czechs and Germans has got it? That is really the chief question of the hour. His Government is certainly acting with vigour in Prague, but it must be remembered that the mere suppression of disorder is only the beginning of the work which lies before them. Czechs and Germans before them to be persuaded to come to some kind of agreement as to the terms on which Austria will remain united with Hungary or Hungary will go to her own way. And to reconcile these two fractious nationalities after what has happened looks almost hopeless.

It is most earnestly to be hoped that the deadlock at which the engineering conference seems to have arrived will not last. The men ought to see that the last proposals of the masters are as quickly as possible, and decide as quickly as possible whether they can run on or not. There is no sense in refusing to accept them unless they can make sure of winning in the end, and this, it is becoming increasingly obvious, is just what they cannot do.

Now are the men really in a position to carry on the fight? I cannot believe that they are. There is a limit even to the funds of the most prosperous trades union, and it strikes me that the bottom of the pocket is becoming distinctly visible in this case. One can only hope that the men will insist upon knowing how they really stand, for, if they allow themselves to be broken up this conference, and then find that they have made a mistake, it will be a sad day for them. It will be very small comfort then to reflect that they have made others suffer as well as themselves, or to turn upon the blind guides who have led them into the ditch.

The trade union officials assert that it is the desire of the employers to destroy the trade unions altogether. I do not for one moment believe that. Nor would it be their wish to be able to make their own bargains with the men, and not to be compelled either to pay full wages to a man who cannot do full work or to refuse him employment altogether. It is also their firm determination not to allow the unions to come between themselves and the men. I hold no brief for them, but a blind man can see that for this they will fight to the bitter end. That is what the men have really to consider.

It is odd to find Mr. Labouchere on the side of the angle-I beg pardon, I should have said the peer. Yet what else is one to make of his proposal that Mr. Herbert Gladstone should be made leader of the Radical party? It is the most unbecoming defence of the hereditary principle I ever heard of. All his senses can suppose that this undeniably mediocre politician is suggested for any conceivable reason except that he is the son of the famous name. Yet it is his famous constitution which really do go for these facts in the world that Mr. Labouchere wants to remodel. I am afraid he will have some difficulty in setting up a Gladstone dynasty in this country.

The irrepressible Mr. Hes is, I see, at it again, and seems quite determined to make Mr. Labouchere understand that he is far from being silenced by the injury Mr. Sal's letter has done. One can't help thinking that whatever these precious letters contain, Mr. Labouchere would have done much better to let them speak for themselves. Even if nothing reflected on the ridiculous figure he cuts in objecting to the publication of his own letters, after having resigned from the South African Committee because he could not obtain those of Mr. Rhodes.

It is very unfortunate that the coming of winter should have compelled General Lockhart to withdraw from the north-west frontier, because the tribes are just beginning to get sick of being punished, and are evidently ready to come to an understanding. One can only hope that this change of mind will continue to the conclusion that, because the troops have left the advanced posts, they are free to resume the amusement of murdering and plundering the subjects of the British Empire. But I am very much afraid that the respite will be altogether misunderstood.

The German move on China has evidently roused both France and Russia to vigorous action, for the French are demanding concessions of land and the right to make a railway, while the Russians have sent out 5 military instructors to teach the Celestials how to resist the temptation to bolt when an enemy appears. One would like to be sure that our own Government was doing something to counterbalance this display of activity on the part of our great rivals. Some day or other China will, in all probability be the most important market which any European nation will be able to command. What the day comes we do not know, and the gates and the tolls are in the hands of our competitors in trade.

I am sure that everyone will wish the mayor of Margate complete success in his appeal for help for the families of the poor who lost their lives by the capsizing of the lifeboat. Out of the 9 who were drowned 8 were married men, and you know how difficult it is for men in their position to make any provision for their families. Men who die in the performance of such duties as the Mayor of Margate has undertaken have a claim upon the sympathy of the community greater than that of ordinary folk, and they ought to be respected. We are all proud of the heroism of our lifeboat men; don't let us give their widows and children bitter cause to wish that they may shrink their duty.

A Cabinet Council was held yesterday at the Foreign Office, all the Ministers being present.

LATEST ELECTRIC FLASHES.

HOMER. Michael O'Leary, 63, and Joseph Pittington, 30, were committed for trial at Bury on a charge of stealing a fire and other articles belonging to the Bury Corporation.

The funeral took place of Ald. Thompson at Dudley amid every token of respect. Deceased was well known throughout the Midlands, being prominently identified with many big commercial undertakings.

Hugh Joel was fined £3 and costs at Chesterfield for an assault on Jason Froggatt, the Duke of Devonshire's oldest tenant. Defendant was alleged to have placed corn on his land to attract grouse.

An inquest was held at Barnsley on Mary Ann Ruthin, daughter of a miner. The child was sent to pick coal on a tip, and slipped down the side of the tip into the burning under heap. Verdict accidental death.

Thos. Raynor was at Northwich sentenced to 7 days' hard labour for begging. Evidence showed that he entered a "beastman's" shop drunk, and on relief being refused, struck ex-Sergeant Hamforth several times.

The foundation stone of the proposed Jubilee Workingmen's Club and Institution for the parish of Old Malden was laid yesterday by Mr. Buckton, M.P., in the presence of a large number of persons.

There was a heavy fall of snow in Leamington and other parts of N. Warwickshire. The whole countryside presented a wintery aspect. Hunting operations had to be suspended.

The South Staffordshire coroner held an inquest at Bowley, at which it was shown that a boy named Wilfred Allport had met with a shocking death through injuries received by being burned by the explosion of a paraffin lamp. Verdict, accidental death.

The barque This landed a shipwrecked crew of 9 hands at Dungeness, belonging to the Norwegian barque Lord Baltimore, with coal, which foundered during last Wednesday's gale in the North Sea. They were rescued by the ship just before their vessel went down.

FOREIGN. Sir W. Maxwell, Governor of the Gold Coast, left yesterday for England on board the Bakana.—Russia.

According to an official communication, no order will be issued by the Turkish Government this winter.—RUMANIA.

Sig. Pelloux, Italian Minister for War, has tendered his resignation to the King, in consequence of the action of the chamber in voting against the Army's advancement proposal.—CENTRAL NEWS SPECIAL.

The Russian pirate chiefs have addressed a joint note to the Spanish Minister, here promising never again to attack European vessels. The note will be submitted to the Diplomatic Body.—RUMANIA.

At Cairo yesterday Ahmed Fend, a native journalist, and Sheikh Mansour, were sentenced to 20 months and 12 months respectively, and fined for publishing a poem defaming the Khedive.—RUMANIA.

During the disorders which have been so ripe at Prague for several days, 44 shops have been pillaged by the mob and the windows of over 800 houses and shops smashed. On Wednesday and Thursday 67 persons were handed over to the criminal tribunal for trial.—CENTRAL NEWS SPECIAL.

ILLNESS OF RANJITSINGH. A Renter's telegram from Sydney, received early this morning, says the prince is suffering from a severe cold, and the patient requires constant attention.

COURT THEATRE. The run of the fairy comedy, "The Children of the King," suspended a few weeks since, was renewed yesterday afternoon at a series of matinees, Mr. Lockhart no doubt justly assuming the fanciful nature of the story, would appeal more especially to the younger generation home for the holidays. Since its temporary withdrawal the dialogue of the play has been judiciously revised, with the result that its action proceeds not only more rapidly but with this acceleration a more judicious development of the pretty story of "The Goose Girl" and her princely lover. These parts are again played by the girl by Miss Cissie Lottus, with her Lockhart's vigorous and ingenious sympathy charm of an ingenue, and the comedy is a well-deserved success. The play is a well-deserved success. The play is a well-deserved success.

SAVOY THEATRE LAST NIGHT.

It is thirty years since the dainty strains of Offenbach's "Grand Duchesse" first caught the ear of London, and the cordial reception given to a brilliant revival at the Savoy last night was sufficient to set at rest any doubts that may have existed as to the enduring merits of the most popular of French operettas.

L-I COULD NEITHER SAY, WORK, NOR SLEEP."

L-I COULD NEITHER SAY, WORK, NOR SLEEP."

L-I COULD NEITHER SAY, WORK, NOR SLEEP."

THE above quotations are taken from Letters written by a man who has been suffering from the disease known as "L-I COULD NEITHER SAY, WORK, NOR SLEEP."

For all these persons were promptly recovered and returned to the enjoyment of health and comfort, and that by very simple and not expensive means, which we will indicate further on. They all suffered from that most persistent disease, Indigestion, and its ever attendant constitutional disorders, Nervous Irritation, and Rheumatism, and had "tried everything."

Now we will briefly point out the methods they adopted, but will allow their communications to furnish the reader with the splendid results which followed in every case. They took a dose of GUY'S Tonic daily after food, regulated the quantity and quality of their food, and in other ways conformed to the simple directions as to Hygiene contained in the wrapper of every bottle of GUY'S Tonic, for the benefit of which they write so thankfully. Let us now hear what our friends say:—

"The Quail, East Loos, Cornwall.
"I have taken two bottles of GUY'S Tonic. It is doing me good. I sleep better, and don't suffer so much in my stomach and bowels as I did. I have been so weak at times that I COULD NEITHER SAY, WORK, NOR SLEEP."
—M. PEARCE—

"Bathford, Wiltshire.
"I was a dreadful sufferer from Indigestion, and for some time I was unable to do any work. I have been taking GUY'S Tonic for some time, and I feel much better. I have been so weak at times that I COULD NEITHER SAY, WORK, NOR SLEEP."
—MRS. E. BRICKMORE—

"Middleton, Wiltshire.
"These last five months I have been unable to do any work, and I have been suffering from Indigestion, and its ever attendant constitutional disorders, Nervous Irritation, and Rheumatism, and had "tried everything."
—JAMES CORNFOT—

"Woolwich, Kent.
"For the past four years I have been suffering from Indigestion, and its ever attendant constitutional disorders, Nervous Irritation, and Rheumatism, and had "tried everything."
—W. W. WATERHOUSE—

The body of a man about 35 years of age, apparently of the working class, was recovered from the Thames off Poplar. Deceased, who had only been in the water some few hours, had in his possession a club containing the name of William Brider.

At Bow County Court, John Heath recovered £450 from Alexander Hemple, master stevedore, for personal injuries sustained. Plaintiff was stowing telegraph poles on a steamer in the Shadwell Basin for defendant when a batch which was being lowered from a crane struck him and injured his leg.

Mary Nugent, a decrepit Irish woman, who stated she was 89 years of age, was charged at Sale with begging. When apprehended she had 10d. in her possession. Insp. Ennion informed the bench that prisoner was a constant source of trouble to the police in Salford, where she had made her 15th appearance at court. Prisoner, who caused great amusement by

AWFUL GALE.

THE gale of the early part of the week was even more general, and as far as our south-eastern districts are concerned, more severe than it appeared to be at first sight.

The sea was very high at the western, northern, and eastern stations, and on the north coast of France, but (owing to the northerly direction of the wind) was only somewhat rough along our own southern coast.

At Woolwich Arsenal, where the wharves are high, a high-water mark, the flood came, stopping all work in the vicinity of the wharf. At 4.15 the flood assumed serious proportions, and information having been received at the central office that No. 1 immense quantity of reserve small-arm ammunition was stored, were in danger, a message was telephoned to the General Officer commanding at Woolwich asking him to send all the available troops to assist in saving the ammunition before it could be reached by the flood, and in securing the movable stores from the wharves and sheds, in which were packed thousands of pounds' worth of war stores ready for shipment.

THE troops in garrison, numbering 7,000, were called out, and, under Col. Slade, were quickly on the scene, rendering prompt assistance. From the river, the water continued to rise higher and higher, and the hydraulic shop, containing the electric plant, which lights the greater part of the Arsenal, was soon submerged, and the place in darkness. The Arsenal employees number 17,000, and hundreds of these were sent home, and had to wade knee deep through the water for a considerable distance, the extent of the flooded being a mile, and a half in length and between 300 and 400 yards in width, the whole of the departments being more or less affected. Altogether, the damage to Government property amounts to many thousands of pounds, and the loss of the Arsenal is still greater, but for the promptitude displayed by the officials, who remained at their posts up to 7 o'clock.

THE most disastrous experience for many years at Broadstairs. Long before high water the old pier was completely submerged, and tremendous waves swept it from end to end, carrying away the pier, and leaving a considerable portion of the jetty work.

On the pier being examined after the tide had receded it was found that the flooring of the jetty had been swept away, as well as a great part of the structure, which was lying along the seaward side of the pier.

THE Margate sea front is wrecked, basements are flooded, and the cellars have fallen in, owing to the tons of water which have overflowed the Marine Drive and Parade. The Marine Palace Baths have been levelled to the ground, the sea-wall broken away, and other serious damage done to the jetty, which is in a ruinous condition.

THE gale was severely felt in Heme Bay, where the Promenade was under water at high tide, many shops and houses were flooded, and the inhabitants of the streets leading from the front had to be removed from their homes in boats. Such a disastrous storm has not been known since 1840. Fortunately the new pier stood the test well.

THE tide wrecked the greater portion of the pier, and the structure was in a ruinous condition. The pier was started in the centre, section after section was carried away, and communication between the T-end and the toll-house was completely cut off. The pier was in a ruinous condition.

VICAR'S DIVORCE.

THE Divorce Court on Friday, Sir F. Jeune had before him the case of Foster v. Foster. This was the petition of the Rev. Alfred Ernest Foster, vicar of Clonsilla, Clonsilla, for a dissolution of his marriage with Sarah Annie Foster, the daughter of the late Mr. Kayworth, of St. Mary, Hastings, on the ground of her alleged misconduct with William George Foster, the petitioner's brother. There was no defence.

Mr. Barnard, for petitioner, said the case was singularly painful. Petitioner was the vicar of Clonsilla Church, Hastings, and was married to his wife on Dec. 27, 1883, at Holy Trinity Church, Hastings, and subsequently lived with her at Tulse Hill and various other places. There were 6 children of the marriage. Petitioner lived happily with his wife until 1896. In the course of this year a dispute took place owing to his wife making a complaint of one of the servants in the house. The wife took offence and left the house, petitioner having no objection to her going. He went to her father's house, but nothing was known there, and eventually she was found.

THE husband took her back, and from that time down to the time of the matters referred to in the petition they lived together fairly good terms, though not without such quarrels as existed before the dispute. The last child was born in November, 1894, and from that time marital intercourse ceased between husband and wife. In July, 1896, the wife came to America. She arrived on July 23, but the husband had arranged to take a ship to America, and left on the 21st of that month. She landed in New York, and was housed there when petitioner returned home, and was nothing to arouse his suspicions. In June, 1897, the brother again came to this country, and petitioner had to go abroad, but the visits of co-respondent ceased before petitioner left. When petitioner returned home, however, his wife told him that she had been to Scotland with co-respondent. He was very angry at this, but not knowing there was anything improper between them simply wrote to his brother in reference to the matter. Co-respondent answered in a letter on Sept. 22, 1897, in which he said:—"My dear Alfred,—In reference to your letter of the 21st inst. I have to inform you that I have entered into a solemn compact to cease all further communications between each other, and I shall be most happy to acknowledge that, however good my motives may have been, I was wrong."

THE husband thereupon wrote to co-respondent on Sept. 24:—"Thank you for your letter of the 21st inst. I am glad to hear that you are well, and I will be glad to hear of you at all events for the present, and I hope nothing will ever arise to necessitate the mention of the matter between us again. I am, Sir, your obedient servant, Alfred Ernest Foster." Co-respondent answered, the brother came to the house, and on Oct. 9, much to petitioner's surprise, his wife informed him that she was pregnant. Petitioner
